Q. 1-A) Read the following extract and answer the questions given below

(11)

When I was 14 and very confused about my place in the world, I decided it was time to make a Big Decision. I came home from school one day to announce that I was going to enroll in vocational agriculture courses. I was not going to college. I was going to raise horses for a living.

Dad looked startled then baffled. "That's a rather rash decision," he said. "I hope you've given it careful consideration."

I replied that I had and that I knew exactly what I wanted.

"You're talking about a large commitment," he said. "If you spend four years in vocational courses, you won't have a choice about college. What if you change your mind?"

Mother listened to our discussion with concern. Neither of my parents had been to college, but both hoped I would go. To make it possible, Dad was working at a regular job until 3 p.m., then another four or five hours a day at the little farm we owned on the edge of the town.

"How much have you saved towards this project?" asked Dad.

"Nearly $ 200," I said proudly.

"Tell you what," he said. "I know a ranch up North where they raise horses. Let's drive up there next week. You buy a mare, and we'll put her out at the farm. You care for her, have her bred, sell the colt. Then, after a year or two, if you feel the way you do now, fine. Meanwhile, stay with your regular courses."

The horse-buying trip sounded good, and the offer, as usual with Dad, was fair. I agreed.

When the day came, we left early, putting the dry, flat plains behind us before the sun rose. By mid-morning, we were in the high mountains of northern New Mexico. We arrived at Miguel Hernandez's ranch towards evening. Dad had known Mr. Hernandez for years, and we were welcomed with great hospitality.

1. Why had the writer saved $200? (01)
2. What did the writer's father advise him before the horse-buying episode? (02)
3. Why was the writer's father against his Big Decision? (02)
4. Do you think the writer's father gave him good advice? Why? (02)
5. Do as directed:
  - (a) I replied that I had and that I knew exactly what I wanted. (01)
(Rewrite in Direct Speech)
  - (b) Mother listened to our discussion with concern. (01)
(Rewrite using the verb form of the underlined word)
  - (c) We were welcomed with great hospitality. (01)
(Change the voice)
6. Find a word from the extract which means 'baffled'. (01)

Q. 1-B) Grammar*(04)

Q. 2) Read the following passage and answer the questions given below*(11)

One of my teachers once asked my class what our favourite memory was. I vaguely remember that we were studying self-esteem, and as a discussion prompt, my teacher asked for the moment in which "you felt the best, you felt that you had the world in the palm of your hand." Some described prestigious awards; others described winning a tournament. My answer, however, invited giggles and hesitant smiles. Why? Because I felt the best when I first learned how to ride my bike - at thirteen. I didn't mind my classmate's stares and snickering, because I knew there was more to the story.

My sister and I shared a typical sisterly relationship: we couldn't stand each other. Or, to be honest, she couldn't stand me. I hero-worshipped her. Her taste was the epitome of glamour, her personality the definition of cool. My clothes were mysteriously inclined to look like hers, and even my words tended to mimic those I heard from home. Many times, I even wanted to literally follow my sister, whimpering every time I was barred from attending movies with her. Needless to say, I was a brat and an annoyance to her. Any sort of conversation we had usually degraded to fighting, and try as I might, my sister had an extra six years worth of insulting vocabulary (which meant she usually won). After a while, I stopped trying to impress her and learned to be totally indifferent; perhaps the silent treatment would get more approval. I was wrong. We soon fell into a sad pattern - I avoided her, she ignored me, and deep inside, it hurt. So that's how it was between us. Indifferent or hostile, she was only a sister in name. I truly believed that we would forever be apart, two housemates without conversation, two strangers without warmth. And nothing more.

1. The teacher used the method of _____ (explaining / illustrating / discussion). (01)
2. What did the narrator truly believe? Why? (02)
3. Why did Esther stop trying to impress her sister? Did it help? (02)

Q. 3) Read the following extract from the poem and answer the questions given below

(04)

And off you go, and you do not know,
When that holiday will be,
When the room won't be dumb and silent so,
And your daddy will be free.

Before in the half-open door you appear,
Your complaint flies on ahead;
"But daddy, you're only thinking there,
And yet you were working, you said!"

It's as if I lied to you, in disgrace,
In the most important thing,
For shame at your daddy flies over your face,
Like the shadow of a wing.

1. Why does the boy think that daddy is not working? (01)
2. Do you think that 'daddy' gets a holiday? Why? (01)
3. Name and explain the figure of speech "When the room won't be dumb and silent so". (01)
4. Pick out the line which shows that the child has lost confidence in his father? (01)

Q. 4) Read the following extract from Rapid Reading and answer the given question

(04)

When a dozen persons question openly or slyly a man's sanity, he begins to entertain serious doubts himself. This is what happened to ex-gateman Govind Singh and you could not blame the public either. What could you do with a man who carried out in his hand a registered postal envelope and asked, "Please tell me what there is inside"? The obvious answer was: "Open it and see. . . ." He seemed horrified at this suggestion. "Oh, no, no, can't do it," he declared and moved off to another friend and acquaintance. Everywhere the suggestion was the same, till he thought everyone has turned mad. And then somebody said, "If you don't like to open it and yet want to know what is inside you must take it to the X-ray institute." This was suggested by an ex-compounder who lived in the next street.

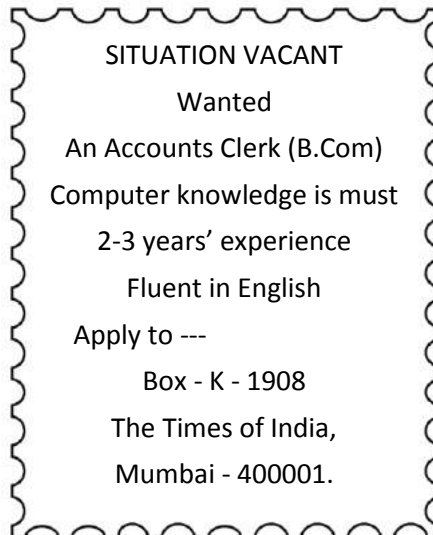

"What is it?" asked Govind Singh. It was explained to him. "Where is it?" He was directed to City X-ray Institute.

Govind Singh wants to know what is inside the registered postal envelope without opening it. An ex-compounder suggested that he must take it to the X-ray institute and directed him to the City X-ray Institute. Extend the extract by adding a short paragraph of your own.

Q. 1-A) Read the following passage and answer the questions given below: (11)

I still remember the day I learned to ride a bike. I had received the bike that Christmas, which was great, until I realized I had no idea how to ride it. My mom had long since abandoned any attempt to teach me; I had proved to be a panicky, frustrating student. I took it upon myself to learn, a little bit each day, but to no avail; I couldn't ride my bike, and on that fateful day, it was no different. I was coming to the end of my daily one-hour torture, and I was so frustrated that I threw my bike aside and began to cry. I guess that was what caused my sister to come outside. At first I was skeptical and tense, as I thought she would begin to tease me or at least burst out laughing. She did neither. I hunched my shoulders forward and turned my face away, but she gently picked my bike up and motioned me over. That was the beginning. She fearlessly held my hand while the tears dried on my cheeks; she steadily held my bike when my feet faltered. She never once let me fall. And for three hours - three wonderful, blissful hours - we learned to ride my bike. No shouting. No fighting. No arguing.

1. What do you come to realize about Esther's sister from this extract? (01)
2. When did Esther get the bike? How did she try to learn to ride it? (02)
3. How did Esther react, when her sister came forward to teach her to ride the bike? (02)
4. What was your experience on learning to ride a bike? (02)
5. Do as directed:
  - (a) I still remember the day I learned to ride a bike. (01)
(Rewrite using the opposite of the underlined word. Do not change the meaning)
  - (b) I threw my bike aside and began to cry. (01)

Q. 2) Read the following passage and answer the questions given below: (11)

We walked in silence for a moment. "You know, Dad," I said, finally. "I do love the farm, and taking care of Sadie, and all that. But, well, it seems there are a lot of other interesting things to do, too."

"Sounds to me as if you've been 'considering'," Dad said.

In the end, of course I did go to college. Dad drove over one autumn day of my first year, and picked me up at the dormitory. We had no destination. We just drove slowly through the mountains, feeling good about being together. Over dinner, I told him about my courses and my plans.

When he dropped me back at the dormitory that night, he offered his hand. "Well, son," he said, tightening his grip, "I guess our horse-buying days are about over. But we bought some pretty good ones, wouldn't you say?"

I nodded, unable for a moment to speak. I looked beyond him to where the library stood alone, lighted like a cathedral. "Dad", I said. "I found out what the Red Indians used that room for."

"Oh?"

"It was a place where men taught boys about life . . . kind of like horse-buying time."

He tried to smile, but the muscles of his face hesitated. "Write to your mother," he said sharply. "She misses you."

When he was gone, I sat outside for a long time. When the lights went out at the library, the stars seemed to shine brighter still, and I stayed to watch them.

1. How did the writer find out about the Red Indians? (01)
2. What did the writer's father remind him about before he left? (02)
3. Why did the father feel that his son "had been considering"? (02)

Q. 3-A) Read the following poem and answer the questions given below. (04)

Old failures will not halt, old triumphs aid,
To-day's the thing, to-morrow soon will be;
Get in the fight and face it unafraid,
And leave the past to ancient history;

What has been, has been; yesterday is dead
And by it you are neither blessed nor banned;
Take courage, man, be brave and drive ahead,
Start where you stand.

1. What does the following line suggest - "What has been, has been; yesterday is dead."? (01)
2. It is said that "No defeat is final and there's no end to make efforts". Do you agree with this? Why? (01)

Q. 2-A) Read the following passage and answer the questions given below: (11)

In Pune, the main focus of the Door Step School is educating children on construction sites. "We conducted a survey and found that lots of young children move into the city with or without families to work on construction sites. Earning the daily bread is a challenge and education thus remains a distant dream. We try and reach out to such children and as a result, today, we are operating on over 100 construction sites in the city. However, there are several challenges. The opening as well as the closure of the sites is not in our hands. When the site is completed, the labour moves out and so does the child. This results in a high dropout rate. Over the years, we have put in several measures to track the children moving due to residence change. One of the ways is by training children to call us from the new location and give us that address. We have received quite a few calls and this is very encouraging”, smiles Rajani.

The Door Step School also provides facility for transport. Making provisions for school transport for children is an essential service, particularly in Pune which is known for its heavy and undisciplined traffic! Transport also becomes a necessity when the number of children at a particular location is rather small and one can save resources by transporting them to a class running nearby.

1. What does the Door Step School in Pune focus on? (01)
2. What service is rendered by the Door Step School for children who stay far away? (02)
3. What happens to the children in Door Step School when the construction work is over? (02)
4. How did you travel to school as a young child? (02)
5. Do as directed:
  - (a) We conducted a survey. (01)
(Change to Passive Voice)
  - (b) We try and reach out to such children. (01)
(Rewrite as a Simple sentence)
  - (c) This is very encouraging. (01)
(Rewrite as an Explanatory sentence)
6. Give the antonyms of: (a) smiles (b) heavy (01)

Q. 4) Read the following extract. (04)

Walking back home he pondered over it. "Why are they behaving like this, as if I were a madman?" Then this word came to his mind, he stopped abruptly in the middle of the road and cried. "Oh! That's it, is that it? - Mad!" He shook his head gleefully as if the full truth had just dawned upon him. He now understood the looks that people threw at him. "Oh! Oh!" he cried aloud. He laughed. He felt a curious relief at this realization. "I have been mad and didn't know it..." He cast his mind back. Every little action of his for the last so many days seemed mad; particularly the doll-making. "What sane man should make clay dolls after twenty-five years of respectable service in an office?" He felt a tremendous freedom of limbs, and didn't feel it possible to walk at an ordinary pace. He wanted to fly. He flung his arms up and down and ran on a whoop. He ran through the Market Road. When people stood about and watched he cried, "Hey, don't laugh at a madman, for who knows, you will also be mad when you come to make clay dolls," and charged into their midst with a war cry. When he saw children coming out of a school, he felt it would be nice to amuse their young hearts by behaving like a tiger. So he fell on his hands and knees and crawled up to them with a growl.

He went home in a terrifying condition. His wife, who was grinding Chilli in the backyard, looked up and asked 'What is this?' His hair was covered with street dust; his body was splashed with mud. He could not answer because he choked with mirth as he said, "Fancy what has happened!"
